

WILSON AND BAKER REVIEW GUARD IN PARADE THROUGH CITY TO CAMP

TO PICK MEN PLANS RELIEF FOR THE FRONT FOR FAMILIES IN 24 HOURS OF GUARDSMEN

District Militia Expected To Be Among First Guardsmen
Ordered South.

SHIPS SENT TO REFUGEES

Announcement of the selection of the national guard organizations of the country to go to the border in response to General Funston's request is expected to be made by the War Department within the next twenty-four hours.

From present indications the organizations to be chosen will be taken from New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and Wisconsin, although preference may be given to the District of Columbia National Guard.

Major General Funston was ordered by the War Department today to recruit at once six new regiments for the regular army, four of infantry and two of cavalry. Detailed instructions were mailed him from Washington. Recruiting will start at once.

AWAIT CARRANZA'S MOVE.

The Administration, having set in motion all the machinery for the mobilization of the national guard and the dispatch of warships and west coast of Mexico, has settled down to await Carranza's next move.

There was no confirmation of reports from the border today that a portion of Carranza's forces had already attacked Pershing's command in Mexico.

The State Department received from Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City a dispatch stating that he had completed arrangements for a special train to carry Americans from the capital to Vera Cruz tomorrow. He stated that the authorities had given their consent and had promised full protection for the train. Thirty Americans left the city yesterday for the sea coast and between 300 and 400 are reported to have left the state of Sonora within the past three days and had crossed the border into the United States.

Has Safe Conduct.

Mr. Rodgers added that he had received assurances that if it became necessary for him also to leave, he would be given a safe conduct. The American newspapermen in Mexico City will remain behind with Mr. Rodgers and will leave with him should the occasion demand.

Secretary of War Baker stated today that no new orders have been given to either Pershing or General Pershing, and indicated that they were still free to take any steps they might see fit to protect themselves and American territory.

It was admitted by the Secretary that the War Department was under serious consideration of granting the new fleet class at West Point next month instead of waiting until June, 1917, in order to provide additional officers.

The Navy Department received today a report from Admiral Wainwright, commanding the Pacific fleet, that all the ships of the reserve fleet on the West

Woman's Department of National Civic Federation
Takes First Step.

MUST HAVE CO-OPERATION

The first definite step looking toward relief of families of national guardsmen who must give up their positions to enter the armed service of Uncle Sam was taken today by the woman's department, National Civic Federation.

Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, chairman of that department in the District, after conferring with Mrs. Ernest P. Bicknell, vice chairman, announced she would call a meeting this afternoon of her executive committee.

Mrs. Hopkins said that two things will be considered. One is the proper channel through which to urge the Federal Government to continue the salaries of men with families who must give up their civilian pay. The other is to find whether there is any need of aid among families of men in private employ.

MUST HAVE CO-OPERATION.

"To achieve any measure of success in a movement of this kind," Mrs. Hopkins said, "there must be co-operation among various organizations. The Woman's Department hopes that other organizations as well as the trade bodies will work together to meet whatever need is to be met."

Although without specific funds for such purpose, an endeavor will be made by the District authorities to care for the dependent families of members of the District national guard sent to the front in response to the President's call.

Commissioner Brownlow said today that the matter of raising funds will be taken up with the Board of Charities and the matter will be disposed of in many cases already firms have announced their intention of continuing

Compromise Seen In Half-and-Half

Further Gossip Afloat at Capitol of Settlement of Controversy.

Further gossip was afloat at the Capitol today that a compromise between the two houses on the half-and-half controversy might be expected, on the basis of abolition of the half-and-half, but with the House consenting to largely increased appropriations from the Federal Treasury for the District.

Members of the subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee in charge of the bill will not admit there is any purpose to compromise or give way on the half-and-half.

It is clear, of course, that eventually the matter will be disposed of in some fashion in conference committee of the House and Senate. Much will depend on the attitude of the House.

Today the subcommittee heard the members of the Board of Education and Superintendent of the Public Library, and Judge Latimer of the juvenile Court, also appeared in behalf of their respective institutions.

He said Archie was at the Plattsburg training camp, but that he had no intention of following a military career.

T. R. TO DECLARE AMERICANS STILL FOR CHAS. E. HUGHES IN MEXICO CITY

Pronouncement To Be Made
Monday, According to Those in Party Councils.

A political sensation will be caused next Monday, when Theodore Roosevelt's letter to the Progressive party's national committee will be delivered and made public.

"You bet we'll elect our candidate for President," said a Republican of national note, who doesn't commonly indulge in slang. He had been asked what he "honestly thought" about the outlook.

"What makes you so certain?" "Wait till you see the letter Roosevelt has written to the Progressive national committee. It will be submitted to the committee at its meeting on the 28th—that's next Monday, isn't it?—and it will be about the most complete statement of the case that has been or will be made."

Specifications were refused. The letter is the kind of letter that will more than please people who want Republicans and Progressives to get together, and to do it with zest and enthusiasm. "And you know, when he sets about to write a real letter, Theodore can do it right well," added the eminent publicist.

"Have you seen the letter?" "I'm indulging in no confidences. Watch the public prints on or about Monday next."

The Roosevelt letter, in which he will definitely and finally decline the Progressive nomination, and which will be made the basis for a declaration by the Progressive national committee in favor of the Republican ticket, has been drafted, and has been submitted, in substance if not in actual, final form, to some of the confidants of Colonel Roosevelt. It is known to be an unusually vigorous pronouncement even for Roosevelt, or else to name Hughes, that it deals at considerable length with the issues of the campaign, especially those that concern international relations.

To Touch on Mexico.

Mexico and the Mexican situation of the present moment will come in for attention of the most pointed sort.

The net effect of this call upon all former Republican elements is confidently expected to be a rehabilitation and unification of the Republican party. It is declared by people who were in close touch with the Progressive management at Chicago, and have known its counsels since, that there will be a determination by the national committee to make no nomination in place of Roosevelt, or else to name Hughes; this latter detail depending on the legal situation.

Train Ordered by Special Agent
Rodgers Delayed in Leaving Capital.

MEXICO CITY, June 21.—The special train ordered by Special Agent Rodgers to take Americans out of Mexico will not leave for Vera Cruz today, as was expected. Rodgers was notified at an early hour by government officials that preparations for the train's departure have not been completed.

Another demonstration by workingmen took place last night before the national palace. Several thousand employees of street car lines and factories gathered to assure General Carranza of their loyalty. Hundreds of school children and a large number of women were in the crowd.

Carranza again addressed this assembly, repeating his previous statement that Mexico was not seeking war with the United States. There was no disorder.

General Mujica, governor of the state of Toluca, informed General Carranza last night that many Americans in his territory did not wish to leave the country in case of war, and asked permission to remain. Carranza sent an immediate reply, instructing Mujica to permit the Americans to remain, and in all cases to give them the same protection accorded other foreigners.

Thirty minutes before his company started on its march from the L street armory to Fort Myer, William T. Burke, a corporal in Company A, First Battalion, Third Infantry, D. C. N. G., accompanied by his bride, Susan Filipek, reported to his company commander.

Ten minutes before the young couple had been married by the Rev. Howard F. Down, pastor of Wesley Chapel, at his home in Third street northwest. Burke and his bride arrived in Washington at 10:30 o'clock this morning from New York. The guardsman had been working there for the past year, and his bride is a New York girl.

Accompanying the young couple to the license counter in the City Hall at noon today were Alice Burke, a sister of the groom and several other relatives. "I will have to step lively to get to the armory in time to go with my company," Burke told License Clerk Kroll as he passed over $1 for the license.

The guardsman said he had been a member of Company A for two years, and that he came to Washington as soon as he could settle his business affairs in New York and influence the names of bandits known to have participated in the San Benito raid.

CARRANZA GENERAL

Ricaut Reminded by Gen. Parker
He Must Round Up Bandits.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 21.—General Parker has officially reminded General Ricaut, Carranza commander at Matamoros, of Ricaut's promise to round up the bandits who crossed the river and attacked a detachment of American soldiers near here last Friday night.

Parker also furnished Ricaut with the names of bandits known to have participated in the San Benito raid.

Anacleto Pileana, bandit leader, has been a colonel in the Carranza army and given command of a detachment that will defend the Matamoros camp equipment the men do not carry on their persons had been forwarded to camp on wagons.

A 1:15 o'clock General Harvey, with Adj. Gen. Harry Coope, and the other officers of his staff, rode to the head of the regiment, and the order "Forward" was sounded with two short notes of the trumpet.

D. C. MILITIA TURNS OUT FOR SERVICE FOR FIRST TIME SINCE '98

Two Thousand Washington Fighting Men March Up Avenue to War Camp—One of the First Organizations to Respond to President's Call.

For the first time since '98, Washington's fighting men in full war regalia paraded through the city today.

Starting from the armory at 1:18 o'clock, 2,000 sons of the District of Columbia swung briskly into New York avenue, headed by Brig. Gen. William E. Harvey, and the long hike to the war camp was on.

Just a little later the guardsmen went by the War Department, coming to the salute as they passed in review before the President of the United States and the Secretary of War.

Thus did the Capital answer the call of the Chief Executive with one of the first guard organizations of the entire country to complete its mobilization and report for duty.

The two thousand men who marched behind their leader in parade before the President and his war chief came near setting a record for national guard efficiency.

Fully equipped for the field and ready to keep on the march to whatever point the President chose to send them, they reported for duty within three days of the receipt of the President's call for their services.

With their bands playing and their flags flying they marched steadily out of private life and into the life of a soldier. They represented the infantry, cavalry, artillery, and signal corps with all of the necessary supply and sanitary troops.

General Harvey marched at the head of the District troops for the reason that at the last hour the original orders for the mobilization of the District guardsmen were amended to include its commanding officer. Up to 11 o'clock this morning Col. Glendie B. Young, commanding the Third Infantry, was in command of the troops.

There was considerable rejoicing at national guard headquarters when General Harvey walked in just before noon, fully uniformed and equipped for the field, and announced that the War Department had assigned him to active duty.

He was immediately surrounded by staff officers and officers of the Third Infantry to present their congratulations. The first man to greet the commanding general was Col. Glendie B. Young, who is thus deprived of a large command.

MEN START OFF ON LONG MARCH.

The start of the men from the various armories was made at 1:18. The Third Infantry, at the L street armory, was assembled this morning at 8 o'clock, and their duty as soldiers may be said to have commenced at that time, for they were not again dismissed.

Just before noon the men were marched to the open space between Convention Hall and the Armory building, where lunch was served. The first meal as soldiers being prosciutto ham sandwiches and coffee, which Maj. John E. Whitaker had prepared for them.

Immediately after the meal had been concluded the bugles sounded assembly and the battalions formed in the street facing the armory. All the baggage and camp equipment the men do not carry on their persons had been forwarded to camp on wagons.

A 1:15 o'clock General Harvey, with Adj. Gen. Harry Coope, and the other officers of his staff, rode to the head of the regiment, and the order "Forward" was sounded with two short notes of the trumpet.

The troops marched out New York avenue headed by General Harvey and staff. Then came the Third Infantry Band with Colonel Young and staff, and the regiment following.

Join Colored Troops.

The troops marched through New York avenue to Seventh street, around Mt. Vernon Square to New York avenue again and down New York avenue to Twelfth street, where the First Separate Battalion of colored troops with its band was waiting.

The First Separate Battalion left its armory shortly before 1 o'clock, and proceeded down Twelfth street to New York avenue to be in time to join the procession.

At Fifteenth street and New York avenue the last of the troops joined the
